

An Educational Program Exploring Priority Coastal Habitats

What they are. Where they're at. Why they're important. How to protect them.

Protecting our critical coastal habitats might seem like a job for Congress, the state legislature, state and federal agencies—or all of the above. And while each of these entities has its role to play, it is a basic truth that protecting coastal habitats begins at home, with your town. Learn how:

*August 28th, 2004 at 7:00 PM
Room 6217, Town Hall
5 Flounder Way, Harborville, CT*

All members of Harborville's land use boards, commissions and departments are encouraged to attend, as well as others concerned with land use and natural resource issues in town.

Focus on the Coast is a multi-media educational project that educates local decision makers about the priority coastal resources of the Connecticut coastline. Focus on the Coast is a collaboration of the University of Connecticut NEMO Program, the Connecticut Sea Grant College Program, The Nature Conservancy Connecticut Chapter, and the Connecticut Department of Environmental Protection Office of Long Island Sound Programs.

© 2004 University of Connecticut. The University of Connecticut supports all state and federal laws that promote equal opportunity and prohibit discrimination. 3-04

For more information contact John Rozum, Connecticut NEMO Coordinator, at (860) 345-4511 or email John at john.rozum@uconn.edu.

Visit the Focus on the Coast website at nemo.uconn.edu/coastal.

Sponsored by the Harborville NEMO Committee.